

Jessica Schoell

VMD

Dr. Jessica Schoell is a 2004 graduate of the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine. Since then, she has worked as both a general practitioner and an emergency veterinarian. She started her emergency career with us years ago when we had a different name! After a journey that include five other veterinary hospitals while growing her family, she has once again found her way back to the Linwood Pet Hospital family.

Her professional interests include diagnostic imaging, soft tissue surgery, and emergency medicine. Outside of work, she likes spending time with her family and diving into a good book.
